Special Abilities

Sen has the following powers only when his twin brother So is in the arena.

Mirror move

May choose to use either your action or your twin's action each turn. This is done after action cards are revealed. Note: You may not leap or do other special moves unless your previous actions allow this to occur.

Sacrifice

One twin can sacrifice themselves and lose 2 points (-2 score) to allow the other twin to use (add) their move or attack action. The twin must decide in what order they occur BEFORE action cards are revealed.

Self-Sacrifice

One twin can sacrifice themselves and lose 4 points (-4 score) to allow the other twin to use (add) their move or attack action. The twin decides in what order they occur AFTER action cards are revealed.

Notes:

Sen and So tend to attack and move in alternate actions with each other. This gives them the power to choose between a move and attack action each turn. They also prefer to have multiple space attack weapons, such as nunchaku.

Background:

So is the "black twin" of the Sen So Arena. He is known for his deceitful and cunning nature.

So has white hair and will always be seen wearing black. He is left handed and will typically wear the Sen So Yin-Yang on a black headband.

He is known to have practiced in the dark arts.

So is best known for his unbroken winning streak in team tournaments, where he will always be with his twin brother Sen. They earned great sums of money with their tournament wins and started the Sen So school and arena in their local town.

So's best friends are Tate and Tounyuu, both of which are members of a local underground criminal organization.

So - "I do love life. There is so much for the taking and I have so much left I want. My only regret is that I still rely too much on others.

It is funny to think about how hard my brother works for only half the result. If only he knew my true power. I have studied hard to learn the dark way of Teiku Kensei. This has given me the ability to use our connection as twins to steal from his efforts. I get half of all he works so hard to obtain. Ha! Keep training brother, I need it!"
